Opis produktu

101 Things a Translator Needs to Know is a book for beginners.

It's also a book for seasoned professionals, students and teachers. For freelancers and staff translators. For amateurs and experts, generalists and super-specialists - be they certified and sworn, recognised, authorised... or simply tantalised by translator's potential for a varied and enriching career.

The authors are all successful translation professionals in fields ranging from highly technical to literary. Here they share insights and tips about what translation involves and how a professional translator needs to think, work and act when dealing with clients and colleagues.

WLF Think Tank is an ad hoc organisation, a virtual body of experienced practising translators that has met at the WordLink Forum at frequent intervals since 1995 to discuss the state of the profession. Its members include keynote speakers at translation conferences, teachers of translation and prominent exponents of the profession in three continents. Among those who have contributed content to 101 Things a Translator Needs to Know are the following:

Paul Bonthron
Carmelo Canico
Chris Darden
Steve Dixon
Andy Evans
Janet Fraser
Catherine Anne Hilly
Jan Hirsch
Inge Beth Hirsch
